CONSOLIDATION COMMITTEE P.O. BOX 71114 FAIRBANKS, AK. 99707

REPLY BRIEF SECTION 1

Reply Brief to the Responsive Brief filed by the Fairbanks North Star Borough to the Local Boundary Commission dated July 28, 2000.

The Petitioners will reply to the comments contained in Brief of the Fairbanks North Star Borough that was filed in opposition to the proposed consolidation. We will summarize the borough statements and comment where we disagree as follows:

Introduction

The Borough states consolidation would neither improve the delivery of services nor reduce their cost and it would diminish the level of self-government for City residents.

Reply: The 39-page City and Borough Consolidation Budget and Fiscal Comments submitted with the Petitioners Reply Brief reports the City's lack of administrative depth becomes one of cost effectiveness and efficiency that would be solved with consolidation. The new budget shows net savings of $578,723 and states "Consolidation offers the potential to effect long-term direct cost savings, or general improvements in overall local government efficiency, beyond just those that result from combining overlapping departments and functions".

City residents are also Borough residents; they elect Borough officials now and after consolidation. This is self-government improved by consolidation eliminating the cost of City residents supporting two local governments. Unification in Anchorage did not diminish the level of self-government for former city residents.

Petition for Consolidation

The Borough states present City residents, under Consolidation, will no longer live in the City of Fairbanks, the "Golden Heart City" instead they will call "Urban Service Area" home. The Borough states the City loses its Home Rule powers and the transition will cost $5 million dollars and will have a negative impact on economic development funding. (The 10-mill tax cap has been addressed in the Petitioners cover letter to the LBC)

Reply: City residents, under consolidation, will live in the "Municipality of Fairbanks", as they do now. Just because borough residents may reside in one of 117 existing service areas, they don't call Ester Lump, Hopeless, Loose Moose or Serendipity "Home." (Names of 4 borough service areas) How silly! They live in "Fairbanks".

The Consolidation Petition provides for City residents to retain all the current powers they enjoy now but will respond to, and pay for, just one local government.

There will be one-time transition costs, what those costs will be depends on how thrifty or extravagant the new Municipality conducts the transition.

Consolidation will not have a negative impact on economic development. The Consolidation Petition calls for the new Municipality to expand economic development to the new Urban Service Area, thus expanding the Borough's economic development area, a positive move.

Constitutional standards for local government in Alaska

The Borough attempts to argue that the Alaska Constitution does not allow for Consolidation of Cities and Boroughs and that Section 1 of Article X states, in part, "The purpose of the article is to provide for maximum local self-government with a minimum of local government units...

Reply: The Borough neglects (purposely?) to complete Section 1 wherein it adds "and to prevent duplication of tax-levying jurisdictions." (Emphasis added)

The Borough further tries to justify their stance that a city cannot become a service area quoting Section 5, Article X of the Alaska Constitution; "A new service area shall not be established if, consistent with the purposes of the article, the new service area can be provided by an existing service area, by incorporations as a city, or by annexation to a city."

Reply: In 1970, when the Juneau Borough unified, both the City of Juneau and the City of Douglas each became a service area of the new municipality. When challenged, the court ruled in that regard that: "Unification is consistent with the purpose expressed in Article X section 1 of minimizing the number of local government units. Article X, section 2 merely authorizes but does not require the coexistence of cities and boroughs." Both the City of Anchorage and the City of Sitka became service areas of the new Boroughs when those municipalities unified. The Petitioners believe the same standards apply to Consolidation.

Further the Constitutional convention delegates who designed Alaska's system of local government considered a borough without cities to be the optimum form of local government.

Consolidation will not promote maximum local self-government with a minimum of local government units

Maybe the Borough can't count! Obviously dissolving two government units and forming one municipality does create a minimum of local government units. The Borough has 117 service areas now with a multitude of services and adding another service area increases the service areas to 118, but it reduces by 50% the number of municipalities with elected and appointed officials.

The Consolidation Petition stated the new Assembly may propose the election or appointment of a service area governing board. The Petitioners believe the new Municipal Mayor and his or her staff can easily manage the new Urban Service Area. The Mayor of Anchorage manages a population three times larger than the entire Fairbanks North Star Borough. Surely, talent exists in Fairbanks to manage a new consolidated municipality.

The residents of the former City of Anchorage, now a service district, have seen the former city blossom with unification and they now deal with just one jurisdiction instead of two. That is providing the maximum local self-government with the minimum of local government units!

The Alaska Constitution prefers the incorporated City of Fairbanks over establishment of an Urban Service Area

Reply: The Borough is beating a dead horse! The Alaska Constitution says no such thing! This issue was discussed in the previous reply. If what the Borough is saying was true, the courts would have disallowed the previous unification of the Juneau, Sitka and Anchorage Boroughs some 30 years ago.

Statutory incorporation standards

(The Local Boundary Commission should note the Borough's statement "that the population of the area is interrelated and integrated as to its social, cultural and economic activities" whereas the City of Fairbanks on pages 14–16 of their Responsive Brief states this is one section of concern that does not meet statutory requirements.)

Anticipated Functions

Reply: The Borough jests with the statement "the Petitioners look to the "stable and respected Borough Administration and Assembly" to manage the new Urban Service Area efficiently, effectively and economically." Compared to the City administration, this is fact evidenced by the Petitioners updated consolidated budget analysis and the Boroughs own analysis of current city administration problems.

The Borough states Economic Development would suffer in the new Urban Service Area under Consolidation. The Borough states the hotel bed tax, an areawide tax, cannot be used for Economic Development, a non-areawide function.

Reply: Economic Development in the borough is not funded by the bed tax, it is funded by the general fund. The Carlson Center can continue to be funded by the Borough's bed tax under Consolidation.

The present city bed tax disposition raises another issue. Under the City tax cap, as hotel tax revenues rise, property taxes decrease. New hotels are being developed in the city and as hotel bed revenues go up, and dispersed to non-profit groups, the property taxes available for city operations decrease. The City of Fairbanks is slowly self-destructing under this scenario. The City Council should assure essential public safety issues, police, fire, streets and walks are attended to prior to giving blank checks to non-profit groups who, prior to the bed tax, provided volunteer funding and staffing.

Anticipated Expenses and Income

The Borough correctly questions the Petitioners two page consolidated budget. The new 39-page City and Borough Consolidation Budget and Fiscal Comments submitted with the Petitioners Reply Brief addresses the several questions herein.

The Borough also correctly states that the City is currently understaffed by Borough standards as also addressed in the updated budget mentioned above.

The Consolidation Petition Transition Plan states the new assembly for the consolidated municipality may provide for an appointed or elected board to supervise the furnishing of special services in the new service area. (Emphasis added) The Petitioners have frequently referred to the Municipality of Anchorage wherein the Borough Mayor supervises the former City and Borough without an appointed or elected board. We would urge the new Municipality to follow other unified municipality's lead in borough management.

Budget Feasibility

The Petitioners have submitted a new 39-page consolidation budget with their Responsive Briefs to the Local Boundary Commission. The Petitioners requested cooperation from the Fairbanks North Star Borough Mayor in developing the updated budget, but were denied cooperation since the Petitioners opposed extending the Public Notice period to December 15,2000.

The Petitioners are also submitting with this Reply Brief, an attachment "Review of FNSB's Response Consolidation Budget by Petitioners for Consolidation of the City and Borough dated August 21, 2000".

The Local Boundary Commission should note that bureaucrats who oppose a proposal use whatever language they can to defeat the issue and that is precisely what the Borough administration is doing in this situation. The entire Responsive Brief could have been slanted on how Consolidation would benefit the Borough if Borough officials wanted the proposal to succeed. The Borough purposely left out all the pros and emphasized the cons. Vastly different than the positive attitude of elected and appointed officials from Haines and Ketchikan in their Consolidation proposals.

Transition

The Petition does not include an adequate Transition Plan

The Borough states the Consolidation Petition Transition Plan does not provide for the use of necessary ordinances to effect the transition. The Local Boundary Commission is invited to look at the first sentence on page 6 of the Transition Plan, which states "The new municipal assembly may adopt a new ordinance to address specific needs or conflicts".

In reference to the City Permanent Fund, the petitioners are submitting a "Trust" for that fund to assure the Fund will be transferred for the use and benefit of the new Urban Service Area.

In reference to the Social Security 218 agreement, the new Municipality can apply for a new Social Security 218 agreement.

In reference to union contracts, the new Municipality has up to two years to resolve various labor issues. The Borough has had good labor relations and good labor negotiations in the past and with better labor negotiation leadership, these issues should pose no unreasonable task. It should be noted that when Anchorage unified they had far more serious labor issues, which were solved by officials that wanted to solve them.

Executive Plan

The Borough again raised the issue of a necessary ordinance.

Reply: The first sentence on page 6 of the Transition Plan addresses this issue.

Election of assembly Members

The Borough states the Consolidation Petitions method of election of Assembly members (Exhibit D Composition and Apportionment of the Assembly of the Proposed Municipality to be formed through Consolidation C. Election) is contrary to law.

Reply: We note this method of election of the Members of the Assembly, was used in the "Petition by the City of Haines and the Haines Borough for Consolidation as a Home Rule Borough" (Exhibit D. page 2). That Petition was approved by the Local Boundary commission and was submitted to the voters of the City of Haines and the Haines Borough. In the Ketchikan Consolidation Petition (Draft of 6/23/98) Article H, The Assembly, page 2 (c) the Assembly Members receiving the highest votes receive the longest initial terms.

If the Fairbanks North Star Borough is correct, and the Petitioners Petition is contrary to law, the Local Boundary Commission should stipulate how the initial Assembly Members are elected.

Other Transition Concerns

Reply: The 10-mill Tax Cap was addressed in the Petitioners Reply Brief cover letter to the Local Boundary Commission.

The Petitioners did not feel it necessary to address the City and Borough Tax Caps since both municipalities have remained under the tax caps and the Consolidation Petitions budget anticipates remaining under those tax caps.

The Transition costs have been addressed earlier in this Reply Brief.

The Consolidation Petitioners have used the existing City of Fairbanks boundaries for the new Urban Service Area and believe they are appropriate. The Boroughs Responsive Brief has not shown otherwise.

Capability to provide Municipal services

Reply: The 10-mill tax cap has been addressed earlier.

Consolidation may affect the City and Borough Tax Caps

Reply: As stated earlier, the Petitioners do not believe the City and Borough Tax Caps are an issue in the Consolidation Petition. It should be noted the Borough Tax Cap expires soon and the citizens have the right to impose a new 2-year Tax Cap on the Borough through a citizen's initiative. As also mentioned earlier, the City Tax Cap is slowly strangling the City's ability to provide essential services.

Petitioners have not budgeted for transition costs

Reply: This issue was addressed earlier. The transition can take up to two years and be as thrifty or expensive as dictated by Borough management. The unified communities of Juneau, Sitka and Anchorage were able to accomplish merging local government without astronomical costs as projected by the Borough.

Summary

The Borough repeats its negative position on the Consolidation Petition, going to great lengths to prove their point with no suggestions or constructive criticism how to more effectively consolidate two municipalities. The Borough Brief reinforces the Petitioners position that the City of Fairbanks does not provide the standards of governance practiced by the Borough. The Boroughs Responsive Brief points out many problem areas that would have to be addressed in consolidation.

The City of Fairbanks has gradually transferred local government responsibilities to the Borough, some through the Mandatory Borough Act, but most through the ability of the Borough to manage those functions in a more effective, responsive and efficient manner. The Area-wide functions that have been transferred include Public Schools, Assessment and Collection of Taxes, Planning, Platting and Land Use Regulations, Animal Control, Flood Control, Hospital (not exercised), Library, Air Pollution Control, Disaster and Civil Defense, Garbage and Solid Waste Disposal, Parks and Recreation, Transportation Systems, Day Care Assistance and Housing Financing.

The Borough operates comparable "City" powers in non-areawide powers of Fireworks Control, Emergency Medical Services and Economic Development. The Borough provides Service Area powers including Road Construction and Maintenance, Fire protection, Water supply and Distribution, Sewage Disposal and Treatment, streetlights and Parks and Recreation.

With the sale of the Municipal Utilities (Water, Sewer, Telephone, Electric Power & Central Heating) the only power now exercised in the City that is not exercised in the Borough in some manner is Police Protection and Building Inspection.

The following was extrapolated from the Petitioners new "City and Borough Consolidation Budget and Fiscal Comments" submitted with the Petitioners Reply Brief:

"State Revenues continue to decline and being subject to serious annual revenue fluctuations decreases the City's ability to provide the same level of services with meager cash reserves".

"A review of the City's Approved FY 2000 budget indicates an organization of principally three large functions, and several smaller ones. The City appears to operate these functions with a lack of centralized administrative depth within its organizational structure. With total expenditures in excess of $22 million dollars and 173 full-time employees, there is only one centralized-shared position for both personnel and purchasing. This is just one example of the inadequate depth of centralized administrate support. At times the lack of administrative depth come at a high price to the taxpayers. A case in point is the recent $2+ million settlement to two former firefighters, a settlement which is reflected in the current City budget by an increase in property taxes, as well as borrowing future PILOT tax-payments held in escrow. Some administrative issues mentioned in official city documents include the need for additional staffing and clearer definition of responsibilities in City finance, unresolved union contracts, weaknesses in internal controls, timely filing of grant reports so as not to have a negative effect on the City's cash flows, and unresolved training grievances from 1998 impeding training efforts".

"The lack of administrative depth becomes one of cost effectiveness and efficiency. The City's operations appear to suffer form the lack of centralized administrative support, whether it be accounting practices, purchasing in bulk, personal computer technical support, competitive bidding, employee hiring and management practices, training supervisors to appropriately manage their employees, sending out timely garbage bills, properly investing City monies, providing for major maintenance of building and equipment, apply for and reporting on grants in a timely manner, replacing outdated equipment, printing its approved budget, or preparing its financial reports in a timely manner".

The Petitioners hold that Consolidation of the City of Fairbanks and the Fairbanks North Star Borough to a single municipality providing both urban and rural services, would be a positive move forward especially in light of continual reduced State revenues. The three unified municipalities, Juneau, Sitka & Anchorage would never revert to a divided, duplicated local government like exists in Fairbanks.

Over 4000 registered voters signed the Consolidation Petition to put the question on the ballet. While the Consolidation Petition may be brief in many areas, it was designed as a guide to a new Consolidated Municipality. We can only suggest actions and list the Petitions intent. We regret the Borough's hostility to a citizen's petition for what we believe would be better government. We also regret the reluctance of the Borough to recognize that over 31,000 Borough residents are supporting two administrations, where with a little help, those residents within a short time period could have what we have claimed all along, a more efficient, responsive and effective government at no additional cost, other than one time transition costs.

This concludes the Reply Brief to the Fairbanks North Star Borough Responsive Brief.

Review of FNSB's Response Consolidation Budget By Petitioners for Consolidation of the City and Borough

Dated: August 21, 2000

BACKGROUND

This report compares the Fairbanks North Star Borough's Consolidation Budget

Response with that of the Petitioners' Consolidation Budget dated July 1, 2000.

To establish a basis for this comparison, several adjustments are required.

corrections need to be made to the personnel roll-ups in the FNSB Response Budget in Section 2. Corrected pages are located in Appendix A of this report. As the corrections indicate the personnel numbers do not foot or tie out. The total personnel added to the FNSB's budgeted positions is 191.18 not 178.56. This correction brings the total staff, under the FNSB's consolidation budget, to 535.55 instead of 522.925. This is a total of 18.18 positions over the current City and Borough personnel combined total of 517.37.

The second adjustment that is required to put the two budget proposals on the same basis is to use approved budgeted personnel, expenditures and revenues for the City of Fairbanks. This was done in the Petitioners' budget presentation, however, was not done in the FNSB's budget proposal. In the comparative analysis of the two budgets, adjustments that are required to tie to the City's approved budget are noted.

City Approved FY 2000 budget numbers for personnel, expenditures and revenues are not used in the FNSB Response Budget; therefore, corrections are made in this review of these differences.

SUMMARY OF ANALYSIS

There is a net increase of 23.18 positions in the FNSB Response Budget over and above those included in the Petitioners' Budget, for a total additional cost of $1,293,941. Of these 23.18 additional positions, five are Board of Supervisors members for the City (Urban) Service Area. The FNSB has added two new Director positions, namely a Computer Services Director and a Fire Chief. It has added 4 positions to Computer Services and 1.5 and 1.67 to each Financial Services and Law. Of concern are two new positions added for the City (Urban) Service Area for cashiering, billing, and collections' functions in addition to positions added for similar purposes in the Treasury and Budget Division and in Solid Waste Disposal.

The FNSB Response Consolidation Budget does not include 4.0 positions that are included in the Petitioners' Consolidation Budget for a cost of $386,449. However, the FNSB budget does include 27.18 additional positions for a total cost of $1,680,390. The net increase in positions is 23.18 for a total of $1,293,941 in additional costs.

In other cost items (excluding transition costs), there are some significant changes proposed in the FNSB's Budget from that of the Petitioners'. The major changes are identified as follows:

Summary of Major Changes

	Personnel	Expenditures
Personnel not included in FNSB Budget	(4.00)	$ (386,449)
Personnel added in FNSB Budget	27.18	1,680,390
Additional Audit Fees		30,000
Code Supplement Added		20,000
City (Urban) Service Area Elections costs added		27,000
No additional contractual Attorney services budgeted		(75,000)
Claims Adjustor contract		20,000
Increase in Insurance & Bonding costs		168,035
Added back vehicle leases that FNSB Response deleted from City's Budget		(40,000)
City Community Economic Development Grants		(1,983,629)
Contingency not budgeted by Petitioners		80,000
Other Plaza & Cemetery expenses		115,051
FNSB added 1st year replacement costs for City's vehicle fleet		971,750
Other miscellanies increase and decreases	_	90,323
Total Major Changes	23.18	$ 717,471

Appendix B is a table depicting the personnel and cost differences between the FNSB Response Budget, by department and function, and the revised budget of the Petitioners. The format of Appendix B is similar to tables in the Petitioners' Revised Budget submittal.

Appendix C is a schedule listing an explanation of the major changes between the FNSB Response Budget and the Petitioners' Revised Budget.

A review of the revenues in FNSB's Response Budget shows that the major revenue changes are in property taxes (see table as follows), the allocation of Hotel-Motel to Areawide purposes, and the making Solid Waste Collections an Areawide function, thus eliminating the Solid Waste Collection tax levy. The FNSB's Response did eliminate several revenues, which should have been eliminated in the Petitioners' Response, which are the Health Center Maintenance of $48,000 and City Garbage Collection-tipping fees. Both of these revenues are double counted in the Petitioners' budget, thus should be dropped.
